MISERICORDIA PLACE RESIDENTS HOST FIRST-EVER BLOCK PARTY

Tomorrow MP personal care home residents are hosting their first-ever block party. The fall-themed celebration will include an advice tent run by MP residents, pumpkin weighing, live music and much more.

“We wanted an opportunity to engage with residents, their families, staff and the community in a creative way,” says Jennifer Klos, manager of Spiritual Health and Therapeutic Services at Misericordia Health Centre. “It started as a small event, but our residents had so many ideas that it has grown into something bigger. We love the opportunity to spend time outside, enjoy music and build relationships.”

For Misericordia Place resident Bill Pollon, the block party is another opportunity to showcase the strong sense of community he experiences in the neighbourhood.

“Come see what we’re really about,” says Pollon. “West Broadway and Wolseley are the neighbourhoods where people are most likely to stop and help you.”
